INTRODUCTION

Introduction

Reentry from jail to the community is often difficult and demanding. The most challenging steps seem to be the ones taken right out the front door of the jail. Within moments, questions arise –

Where do I go from here? . . .

How am I ever going to find a job and where can I start looking? . . .

Is there anyone willing to help? . . .

The Board of County Commissioners for Brevard County in collaboration with the Brevard County Sheriff's Office has created this manual to help you answer these challenging questions and ease your reentry to life within the Brevard community. Divided in sections by your area of need, this manual supplies the addresses, phone numbers, and web sites needed to contact organizations, obtain necessary paperwork, and find resources in Brevard County. A description of each organization, or their services, is provided to assist you in deciding whether the particular organization can meet your needs.

Increase your chances for a successful reentry into the community, by taking advantage of these valuable resources. However, please keep in mind that this manual does not include all of the services available in Brevard County.

TIPS FOR REENTRY

This manual is intended to be a guide to assist you, as you reenter the Brevard community. When contacting any organization listed, there are important tips you should know:

1. Prior to, or immediately after, your release make a list for yourself of the things you need. Do you need housing? Do you need a job? Do you need to learn a skill for a particular job? Do you have any legal issues? Do you need counseling? This manual is divided into sections by your individual need.
2. Remember that if you write a letter or an email requesting assistance from an organization keep the letter short and clear. Always include the following information: Your name, your current contact information, a few sentences or a paragraph about your current situation, and your specific request. Include your signature at the bottom of the letter and thank them for their help.
3. If you call or email an organization, be polite. Remember most organizations are staffed by volunteers who are there to help you.
4. Ask questions. If the person says they cannot help, ask them if they know someone who can.
5. Brevard County Public Libraries offer fully equipped computers for public use at no charge. A list of the libraries and their hours are listed on page 32 of this manual.

Calling 211 helps you get the help you need. 2-1-1 is a simple, easy-to-remember number you can call 24-hours a day any day of the week. Phone operators can connect you to the appropriate community-based organizations and government agencies to help you:

- Find places that assist with food, shelter, and other basic needs
- Get help finding employment in Brevard County
- Help you find the right organization or group to help you with any mental health issues or substance abuse
- By calling 211 you can also talk to trained counselors available all day every day if you want to talk to someone about grief, relationship issues, personal crisis, family concerns, if you are depressed, if you are considering suicide or any other issue you are facing.
